Dear Readers

When we talk to one another, very often we mention the weather – to be too cold or too hot, etc. I suppose we can all say about this last summer: “what a wonderful summer we have had,” or “what a blessing it was to have such good weather for the National Eisteddfod at Meifod.”

In the 10th chapter of John, verse 22, we read: “It was the feast of the Dedication at Jerusalem. It was winter and Jesus was walking in the temple.” Our Lord Jesus was experiencing winter weather with his enemies, facing opposition galore.

As we approach another winter, we wonder whether it will be a hard one. It can be said that the Church in our land is experiencing a hard winter and we often ask why. Could it be us and our own spiritual climate?

Climate makes a vast difference to a country; so also our own particular climate makes a vast difference to us, to the community and the Church. The mean person who is cold and chilly creates a climate which blights others but, if we carry with us a warmth of feeling and kindness, we will meet charming people and somehow drop in for all sorts of happy little surprises which never come the way of churlish folk because their climate is not right.

I remember reading some years ago of a congregation gathering for the evening service in an English country village. Outside, the sky was black, and freezing sleet was driving through the village. Even the warm lights of the church could not disguise the kind of night it was. The few who had braved the weather waited, damp and perhaps a little depressed, for the service to begin. Then, with a smile, the minister announced the first hymn and you’d never guess in a hundred years what it was. Why, the cheeriest and brightest of all hymns, “Summer suns are glowing over land and sea.” By the time the congregation sat down they simply didn’t care about the weather.

Isn’t it true that, even when it’s winter here, summer suns are glowing elsewhere? What’s more, doesn’t it mention clouds and dark skies in the third verse (number 673 in the Methodist Hymn Book)?

*Lord, upon our blindness
Thy pure radiance pour,
For Thy loving kindness
Makes us love Thee more
And when clouds are drifting
Dark across our sky
Then, the veil uplifting,
Father, be Thou nigh.*

As we approach Christmas once again, may we feel the warmth of the Christmas message: The Emmanuel – God with us.

Stanton Evans

GWEINIDOGAETH BRO

Mewn pwyllgor o'r Ofalaeth Bro, gofid mawr i bawb oedd bod ein Gweinidog, Y Parch Stanton Evans, am ymdeol ddiwedd y flwyddyn. Mae wedi bod yn weinidog rhan-amser arnom ers Ionawr 1991, ond mae am gadw cysylltiad agos a ni fel eglwysi gan bregethu unwaith y mis, ac mae'n barod i wneud unrhyw orchwylion eraill a fydd eu hangen. (See below for English translation)

O Ionawr ymlaen bydd trefn y gwasanaethau yn newid. Dalier sylw yn y plan am y drefn.

Medi 7fed, a dyma lond bws ohonom yn mynd ar ein pererindod blynyddol. Eleni fe aethom i weld Capel Coffa Henry Rees yn Llansannan. Yna ymlaen i Langernyw i weld cerflun o'r Swper Olaf, a hefyd cael gwasanaeth byr yno. Wedyn yn ein blaenau i gartref William Morgan, Ty Mawr, Y Wibrnant, cyfieithydd y Beibl i'r Gymraeg. Diddorol oedd gweld yr holl Feiblau mewn gwahanol ieithoedd â oedd wedi eu rhoi i'r hen gartref gan fobl oedd wedi gwerthfawrogi'r lle hynod yma. I orffen y daith cawsom bryd o fwyd mewn gwesty yn Nhrefriw. Y cyfan wedi ei drefnu'n ddi-fai gan ein gweinidog Y Parch Stanton Evans.

Cawson Wyl Ddiolchgarwch fuddiol iawn gan ddechrau gyda Chyfarfod Gweddi a phregeth gan Y Parch Eric Green, Y Bala, ym Methania. Yna cyfarfod dan ofal yr ieuenctid, pryd y gweinyddwyd y Cymun Sanctaidd. Cafwyd gwasanaeth ddwy-ieithog yng Nghapel Cefn Canol, gyda anerchiad gan Y Parch Stanton Evans a gair o gyflwyniad gan y Rheithor David Crawford, Rhydycroesau. Ac i gloi yr Wyl, bu pregeth yng Nghapel Rhiwlas gyda'r Parch R.G. Jones, yn gwasanaethu.

Noson agoriadol y Gymdeithas Ddiwyllianol oedd perfformiad o 'NANSI' gan griw o ddisgyblion Ysgol Uwchradd Llanfyllin. Noson ragorol i agor ein gweithgareddau am y gaeaf.

It was with great regret that we, the members of Gweinidogaeth Bro (Area Ministry), in our last committee meeting, learnt that our minister, the Reverend Stanton Evans, expressed his wish to retire at the end of the year. He has been our part-time minister since January 1991, but the good news is that he intends to keep a close relationship with the chapels by preaching once a month and that he is ready to perform any other duties which may be necessary.

OUR SCHOOL IS SAFE – SO FAR

It is great to hear that Powys County Council is no longer planning to close Ysgol Bro Cynllaith. We all know that rural services are under threat but that would really have been one cut too far. It's good to know that every now and then a local community can fight back and win – or at least win the first round!

The local community has responded magnificently to the threat of closure. The public meetings with Powys CC and with local politicians, Martyn Jones and Karen Sinclair, were very well attended and left no-one in any doubt about our feelings on the matter. Barry Jones did a first-class job in presenting our case to councillors. The headmistress, Mrs Smith, staff and governors would like to thank everyone for supporting the school to the hilt..

The Powys committee meeting on 3 November was pure drama. The Director of Education, Mike Barker, recommended that Llansilin School should be saved for "geographical reasons", but the future looked bleak for Llangedwyn. Step forward Cllr Harry Hughes, who managed to persuade the committee to change its recommendation for an "area school" for Llanrhaeadr to a "replacement school" so that Llanrhaeadr would get the new school it so desperately needs but Llansilin and Llangedwyn would carry on as before.

This is not quite the end of the story. The committee decisions could, perhaps, be overturned at the full Council meeting later this month. With Michael Barker and the committee members on our side we are in a strong position, but we cannot relax until the Council confirms that our school has survived.

Brian Smith,
Chair of Governors

NEW LOOK CHURCH GATES

The big main gates and the small village gate have been painted - many thanks to Lynn and Terry Yates of Penybontfawr. Lynn has many connections with the area and church going back many generations and was pleased to donate time and effort to the place well known to her ancestors.

INDUCTION LOOP AND SOUND AUGMENTATION

It's not easy to make a discreet installation of modern equipment into an ancient and historically important building! Months of research and planning into the best and most appropriate system have been eventually rewarded with approval from various preservation bodies and the Diocese.

The big snag now is finding the several thousand pounds required for the equipment. We would welcome contributions from the Parish to add to any grants we are trying to find. Installation will take place in the next year and we look forward to welcoming people to the improved sound at services, concerts and special occasions.

CROESO I BAWB - ALL WELCOME

Collection in aid of Llangadwaladr Church appeal

UPDATE ON LLANGADWALADR CHURCH

Good progress is being made. The architect has drawn up plans for pipework to drain rainwater away from the foundations. The entries in the new visitors' book have been heartening. Support from the surrounding communities with concerts to raise money has been so encouraging. There will be two concerts in December, on the 7th and 19th.

Grants permitting, it is hoped that 2004 will see the start of major restoration of the building.

Summer Supper

Deborah Hill-Trevor generously hosted a most successful supper at Plas Lledrod, on a fine summer evening, with lots of good food and wine. £400 was raised for church funds.

HELP VICTIMS OF TORTURE AT CHRISTMAS

Amnesty International's popular Greetings Card Campaign is coming up again in time for the festive season. This gives us the chance to help victims of torture and human rights violations by sending cards or letters directly to them. This not only gives them hope and support but also tells the imprisoning authorities that what they are doing cannot be hidden from the outside world. Here is how one prisoner was helped by last year's campaign.

N'ssi Luanda Shandwe, a human rights worker in the Democratic Republic of Congo, was detained because of his human rights activism. He became ill with malaria but was refused treatment. Supporters of AI sent many cards to him in prison and he was released without charge on 23 January 2003. In his own words: "You cannot imagine for one moment the courage, moral comfort, protection and good spirit that the cards gave me."

For more details, with names and addresses to write to, contact Anneli Thomas on 791 239. Simple messages are best: it's the drip, drip, drip of the messages arriving that makes all the difference.

Amnesty International Wales

This is a Welsh speakers' group and its aim is to respond quickly and efficiently to calls in Welsh, increasing the contribution of Amnesty International Wales to the Welsh media on subjects such as refugees and asylum seekers, trafficking, laser guns and other topical issues. If you are interested and would like to know more, please contact the new AI Wales office in Cardiff, tel: 029 2037 5610. The nearest regional group is in Wrexham, tel: 01978 365108.

CHURCH HARVEST CELEBRATIONS

What a lovely evening! First there was the harvest service in St Silin's, beautifully decorated on the theme of harvest and attended by villagers from Llansilin and Llangedwyn, very much a community event. Then followed a splendid three course supper for over 80 people in the Memorial Hall. Surplus income of £130 was donated to Hope House.

LLANSILIN COMMUNITY COUNCIL

The September meeting was presided over by the chairman, Cllr D Sockett, assisted by the clerk, Mr H Hughes.

- Members were informed that no decisions regarding local schools would be made before November.
- Improved signposting in Llansilin and Rhiwlas would be provided.
- A planning application to renew existing 11 KV overhead lines was approved.
- It was agreed that a housing survey would be undertaken among all householders in the parish.
- Powys CC regional waste plan was received.
- Friends of the Earth Cymru have requested all areas to be designated GM crop free.
- Powys CC draft Arts Strategy was received for consultation.
- Members agreed to contribute £60 to pay for the winter issue of the Llansilin Newsletter and requested that copies be available at Rhydycroesau post office.

Action would be taken on the following complaints:

- New stiles needed at Maesyllan and Bryn Dentyr.
- Protruding kerb near Bwylchyriw.
- Slow sign needed at Bwylchyriw.
- Improved visibility at Derwendeg junction.
- Communal refuse bin needed at Lloran Isa junction.
- Dilapidated caravan on car park.

The continued parking problems in Llansilin were again discussed and it was agreed to invite the Community Police Officer to the next meeting.

USED POSTAGE STAMPS

It is a pity to throw away used stamps when they can help to raise money for guide dogs for blind people. Please leave about half an inch of envelope all round the stamp and place in the box in the church porch.

MURAL FOR THE MEMORIAL HALL

A new mural has been painted in the Memorial Hall. The work, by David Goodman, is made up of twelve separate scenes of views and buildings around Llansilin, including eight chapels and three churches, grouped around a central image of Sycharth. The mural was commissioned by the Memorial Hall Committee after the Llansilin Choir had performed at Llanfechain Village Hall and admired the mural there painted by Mr Goodman. A period of community consultation followed before the scenes depicted were chosen. The work was carried out in August and completed in early September.

LLANSILIN WALL HANGING

Another most welcome addition to the Memorial Hall is now in place above the entrance. The rag rug wall hanging is a beautiful depiction of this much loved part of our landscape. Kate Beecroft co-ordinated a group of dedicated villagers, who met regularly over two years to do amazing things with a rich collection of fabrics, textures and colours. Alison Beeston, Dot Renshaw, Norma Garment, Mo Denny, together with Kate, made up the core group and there were others who came from time to time to lend a helping hand and admire the hanging as it took shape.

The wall hanging was unveiled in September by Grace Garment who, at 103 years of age, takes a great interest in village life and even had a go at rag rugging herself. Alison gave a potted history of the project with special thanks to Pam Johnson for the use of the Old Vicarage and for her constant supply of tea and encouragement. Emyr Evans thanked the group for their gift to the village and paid tribute to their wonderful achievement. This was wholeheartedly echoed by everyone there.

In the hall many local people displayed their crafts, giving demonstrations and making us realise what a wealth of talent there is in, and around, the village.

The next project will be to create a large hessian angel for the church. Please contact Alison (791262) or Dot (791279) if you would like to be involved, whether on a regular basis or just occasionally.

CROWN OF LIGHT

This year, instead of the Tree of Light, there will be a Crown of Light on top of St Silin's tower, out of reach of the vandals who have attacked the tree in previous years. Bulbs can be bought at £3 each from Margaret Lloyd (791472) or Joan Williams (791313). Proceeds will go to children's charities, appropriately for Christmas, divided between Alice Ward at the Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt Hospital and LOST.

LOST is a Welsh charity, run by the vicar of Llanidloes and his wife, the Revd Bob and Janet Pitcher, to help orphans in northern Uganda. They believe "that it is through the opportunity of a good education that tomorrow's children will get the chance that many of today's children have been denied through the ravages of AIDS, conflict and poverty."

Llanfyllin and District Community Strategy Forum

The October meeting addressed the concerns of young people in the area and they themselves decided to present 4 messages through the medium of drama:

- ◆ drugs
- ◆ bullying
- ◆ physical violence in the home
- ◆ feelings of powerlessness and lack of choices in the face of authority

This was a novel and thoughtful attempt to show how they view the important things going on in their lives. They felt there was nothing to occupy themselves with outside school. What they wanted above all was a community facility for themselves, a place they could call their own and which they would be responsible for - outdoors, a basketball pitch, with a shelter, well lit and safe; indoors, several rooms for different activities, a kitchen and games room, and possibly a youth café run under adult supervision. At school they felt they needed someone independent they could turn to with problems, such as a counsellor or youth worker, rather than having to go through the formal institutional structure.

The next meeting will be on 8 or 15 January to discuss health issues and community safety. Posters will be put up on the village notice board with the final date. If anyone has an issue they would like to raise, this would be a good opportunity to do so.

EMPOWERING WOMEN IN GHANA

St Silin's sponsors a community project in Bawku, Ghana through ActionAid. Fati Musah has sent a very moving letter. She says: "You have helped to bring something very important to my community - peace. I am so thankful and want to tell you about all the good things that have happened."

Since Ghana's independence in 1957 the two tribes in Bawku have fought each other. Many people have been killed, and schools, hospitals and livelihoods destroyed. Fati, together with other women, decided they must try and do something about it. They didn't know what to do as women are not used to be listened to there but ActionAid had come to Bawku to help bring peace and they gave the women the confidence to organise themselves. Slowly, they managed to get the two tribes together to negotiate and eventually the Bawku peace agreement was signed.

Again, in Fati's own optimistic words: "We can now live free from the fear that has brought so much pain and sadness to Bawku. We women will continue to work to solve the problems that we are left with but we do this with confidence because we have already achieved so much and we have ActionAid's support."
